THE MAGAZINE ABOUT SCIENCE FICTION

Volume 20, Number 1, Whole Number 44, Winter 1983-84

CONTENTS

6 BEATLE JUICE: editorial . . . . . Andrew Porter
The glorious past, an uncertain present and no future at all are topics in this longest of all editorials.

11 THE FANTASY PRESS STORY . . . . Lloyd Arthur Eshbach
Fantasy Press was one of the pioneering small presses in the SF field. From beginning to end, Lloyd Eshbach shows us the life and death of this daring effort to bring hardcover SF and fantasy to the public.

17 INTERVIEW: TERRY CARR . . . . . Darrell Schweitzer
The editor of the old and new "Ace SF Specials" talks about the craft of editing.

21 POHLEMIC: COMING UP ON 1984 . . . . . .Frederik Pohl
With so much talk about George Orwell's "1984," Frederik Pohl shows that much more than Orwell's feet were made of clay.

29 OF MISERY, AND GUILT, AND SPAM . . Arthur Byron Cover
Cover looks at the fiction of Vonda McIntyre, and doesn't like what he sees.

31 THE SILVERBERG PAPERS: PART 5 . . . Robert Silverberg
Robert Silverberg, who swore never to buy a computer, shows he's capable of changing his mind.

35 SKETCHES: art column . . . . . .Vincent DiFate
"Out of the Void: 'The Thing' and the beginning of the 1950's SF film cycle."

41 WITH MALICE TOWARD ALL: books . . . . . .Joe Sanders
Books reviewed: Fantasy Literature; Red as Blood; Keep Watching the Skies: American SF Films of the Fifties; Stroka Prospekt; Psycho II; The Monk; The Gernsback Awards; Formula Fiction: An Anatomy of American SF; The Delta Star.

45 RANDOM FACTORS: letters . . . . . The Readers
David Travis, Sandra Miesel, Charles Strand, Robert Silverberg, Douglas Barbour, Louis Epstein, Sanford Lee, Roelof Goudriaan, Stephen Antell.
